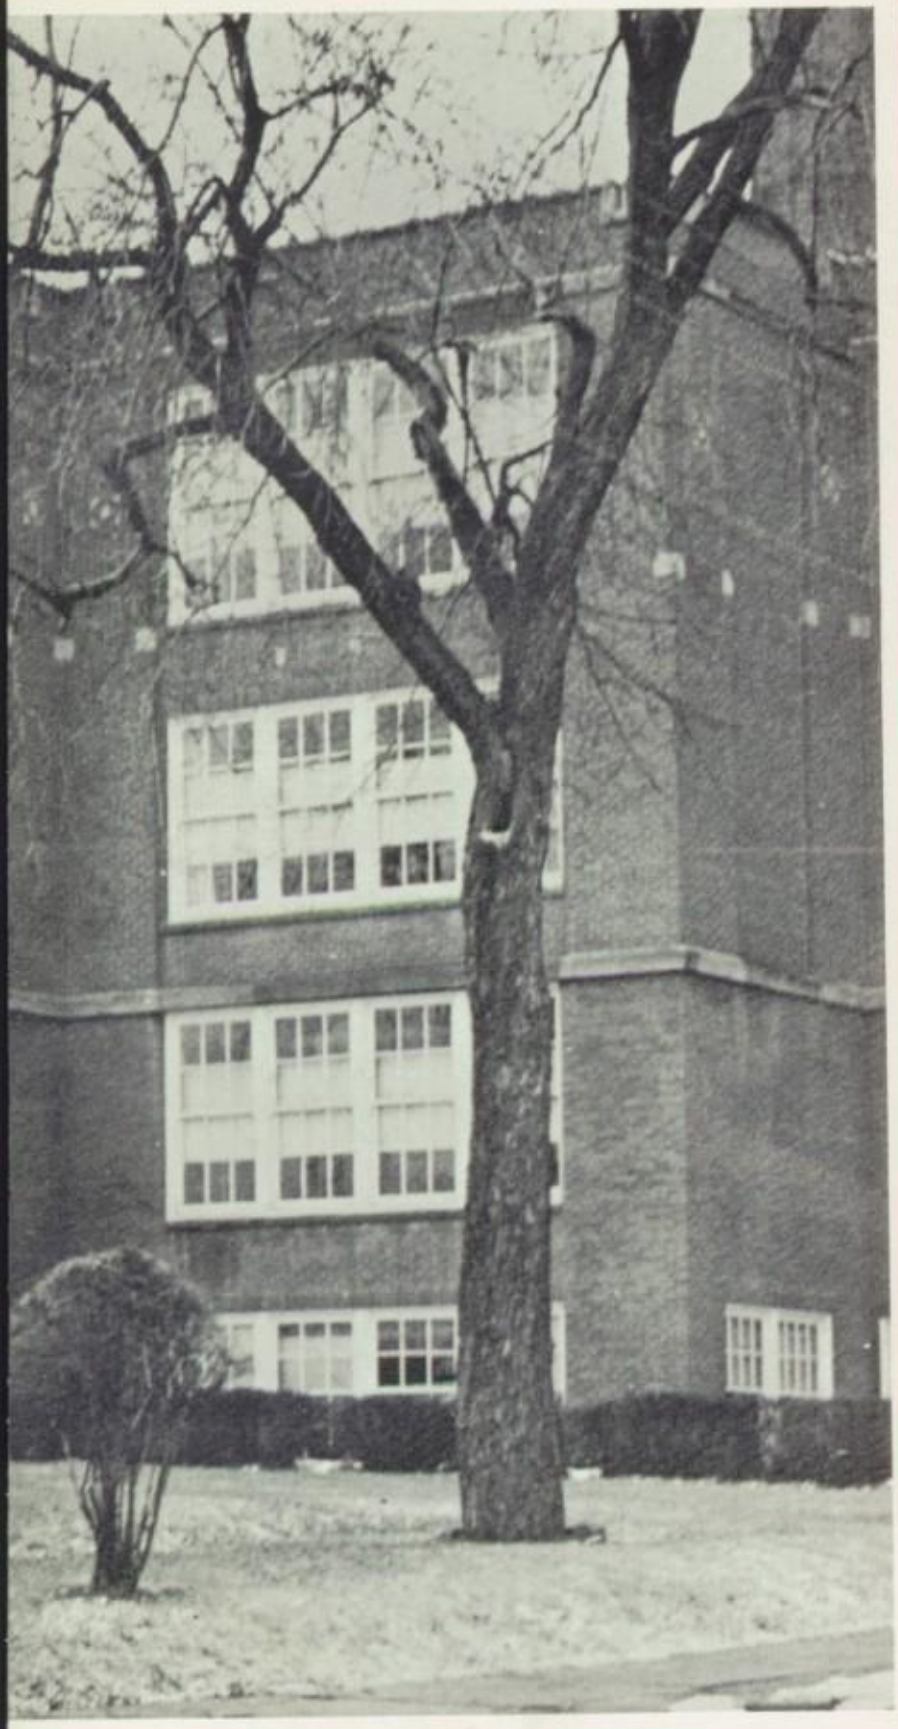
GUIDE - 1962

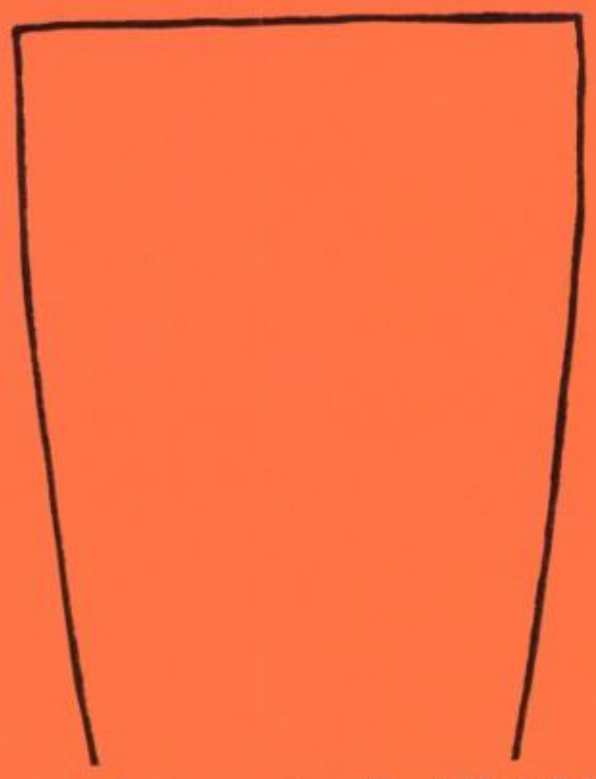
Ashland High School

Ashland, Ohio

Phil Hamilton, Editor

Jane Worcester, Associate Editor





These past few years at Ashland High School have been the sand of the hourglass that slowly slips through the small neck in carefully measured quantities. This sand marked off not just the lapse of time but the laughter, the sorrow, the dances, the concerts, and the traditions of several generations.

A simple movement, turning this glass of time, will not only start new patterns, but also renovate the older established ones. The resulting mixture of chaos and order that will emerge epitomizes the sharp changes that will come to Ashland High when it turns the old about to start the new and begins occupancy of a new building.

Classes come and go but each one leaves its mark on the memory of the town, the building itself, and the classes which will follow after. We, the class of 1962, hope that this Guide will bring to mind numerous triumphs and tears and that it will be the instrument by which future generations recall our period of changing times with its eyes cast toward new frontiers.

James E. Thomas

DEDICATEE

It is with sincere pleasure that the senior class proudly dedicates the 1962 Guide to Mr. James Thomas.

The cultural aspects of school activities in the instrumental music field are predominently influenced at Ashland High school under the very able direction of Mr. Thomas. His work with the Junior Band, Marching Band, Concert Band, and Orchestra is a matter of civic pride as well as school pride.

The performance of the Stage Band, the usual success of the Spring Follies, and the various concerts which are presented throughout the year exemplify the fine work which he performs during the many hours spent on extracurricular activities.

1961 PROM

DANCES

Decorations and dances go hand and hand the same way the couples do who attend the myriad number of "Y" dances, formals, and Student Council sponsored balls.

Although the festivities following basketball and football games comprise the lion's share of A.H.S. gatherings, the Prom is the most anticipated event of the year with its dusk to day-break activities. The suspense surrounding it's theme and the final unveiling is the highlight of the year.

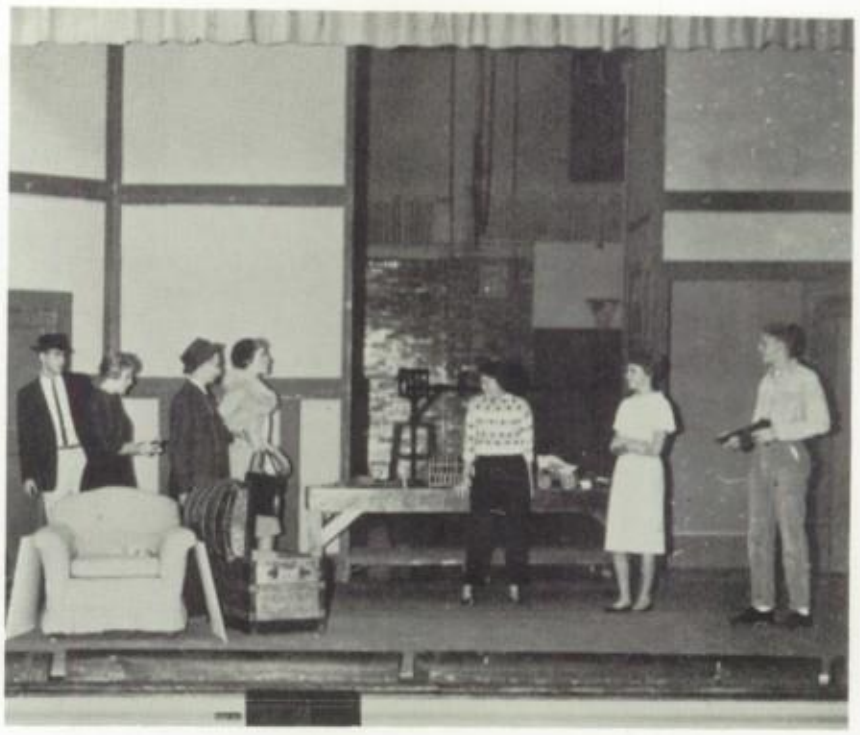
MR. BARRY'S ETCHINGS



SENIOR CLASS PLAY

Mrs. Taylor	Sue Roberts	"Sawbuck Sam"	Jim Flory
Bud	Larry Karth	Mrs. Griswold	Beatrice Yeagle
Evelyn Taylor	Helen Gongwer	Sam Jordan	Phil Hamilton
Judson Berry	Don Zehner	Tom Crosby	Ron Willis
Marvin Pritchard	Dave Crumrine	Daisy	Linda Rosenbluh
Carrie Stanwich	Adrianne Headley	Kenneth Plunkett	Jack Topper
"Fifty Ferris"	Dianne Palmer

A sly grin flitted across the face of Mr. Barry more than once as he and his family became more and more involved with the "Feds" and Fifty Ferris, who both wanted to obtain "Mr. Barry's Etchings" of counterfeit fifties but for entirely different purposes. How this disrupted family group is settled back into its normal routine and how Mr. Barry saved the day made a delightful comedy for this year's Senior Class Play.

"Mr. Barry's Etchings" was directed by Kay Dickerson and was presented on Friday, November 17.

JUNIOR CLASS PLAY

It's in the bag! What is? Why the body of course! This was the startling revelation made by the audience which filled McDowell Auditorium on March 30 to view the Junior Class Play "Four Flights Up."

The suspenseful story of murder and intrigue surrounded Drucilla and Kim Taylor who did nothing more than rent an apartment—complete with butchering murderer and a closet housing a chopped-up cadaver. Many weird situations with ghostly prowlers and nocturnal noises occurred until the play finally drew to a delightful and completely unexpected ending.

A fine group for a fine highland fling

Pretty lassies and their dancing talents add to a successful production.

Emotion and music floated across the orchestra pit and into the hearts of Ashland audiences as they willingly let themselves be transported to the fantasy land of "Brigadoon."

This touching story of two lost hunters who stumble onto the misty and mystic Brigadoon just in time to find adventure and romance during its once-in-a-century appearance endeared itself to the adult evening audiences as well as the younger Wednesday matinee set.

When the final curtain closed and the performance ended, the players reverted to their normal roles as students with remnants of fun-filled memories.

The composition of a workable lamp involves three main parts—the current, the switch, and the filament. The purpose is to give light.

At Ashland High School the lamp undergoes modification. The current becomes the superintendent, the school board, and the business manager. The switch turns into the principal and the assistant principal. The filament is the faculty and guidance counselors. Together they are the lamp of knowledge which enlightens the student body of this school.

As the progressive minds of a modern society have turned from the incandescent bulb to the fluorescent light, the progressive minds of our administration and faculty have looked from this building toward the new Ashland Senior High. With vision and foresight they have planned the conversion from old to new and have already dealt with anticipated problems. New texts, new teaching aids, new desks, new lights, and new paint have all rejuvenated the old and built the foundation of the new.

Now, with the idea of maintaining the light of the lamp of knowledge, they are leading us into a new era.

"Funniest thing happened on the way to school this morning . . . "

A new kind of Christmas tree created in Art Class.

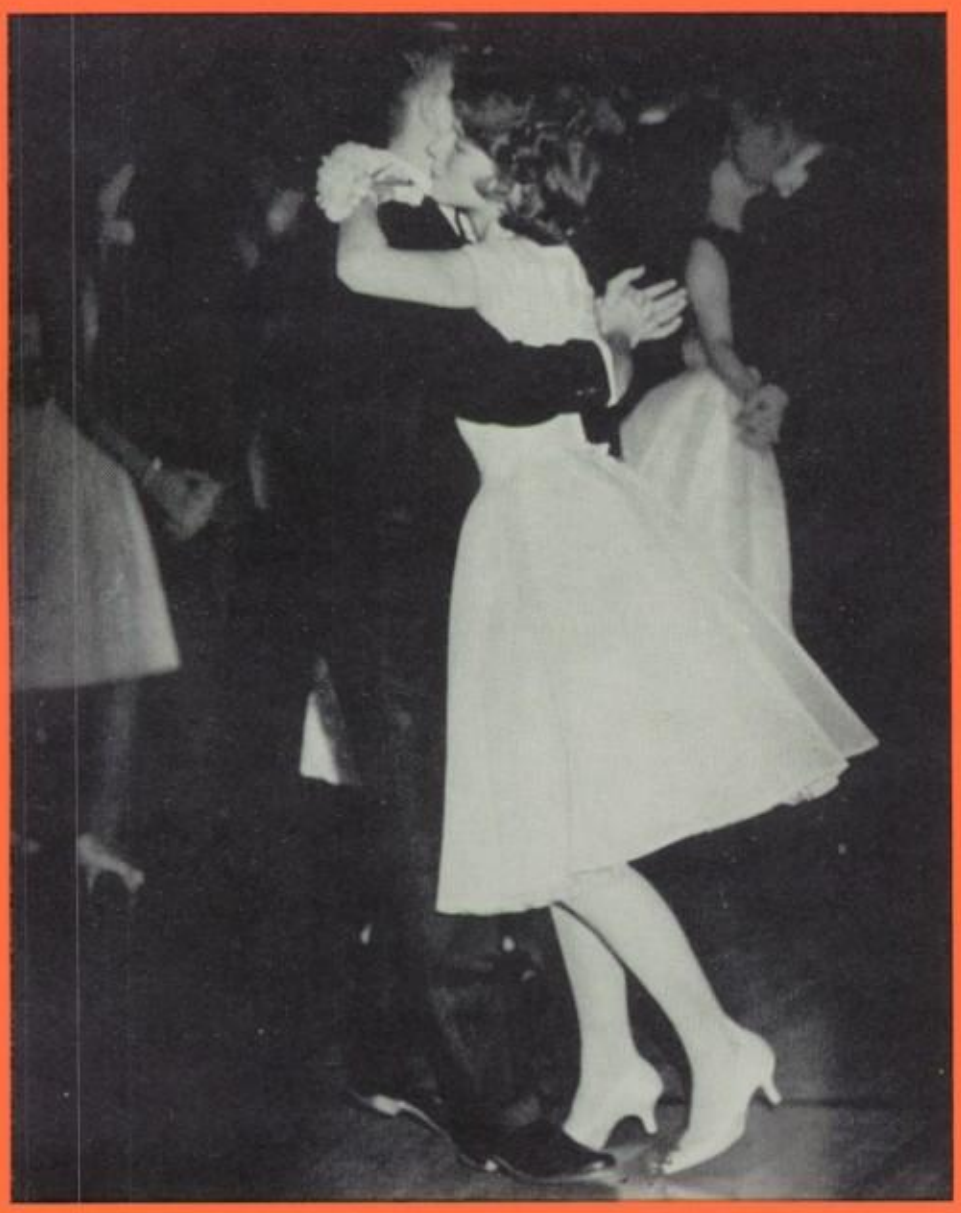
ACTIVITIES



ASHLAND HIGH SCHOOL MARCHING BAND

DIRECTOR James E. Thomas

Karen Shelly

Playing "Hey, Look Me Over!" the eighty-nine member Ashland High School marching band led by prancing senior drum majorette Karen Shelley strutted through eight half-time shows this season, including a rain-soaked Homecoming.

By spotlighting a variety of composers and themes, the band displayed its many facets under the experienced baton of James E. Thomas. The unique half-time drills ran from a Virginia Reel to the familiar block formation. Their dancing as well as their music was tested although usually the dancing was left to the Sweet Sixteen for whom they provided a lively musical background.

This past summer the band captured the coveted first place in the Northwestern Ohio Firemen's Parade. Crazy Days, Old Fashioned Bargain Days, the Halloween Parade, and the annual Christmas Parade also occupied a place on the band's schedule.

Barbara Cook

ASHLAND HIGH SCHOOL SWEET SIXTEEN

Shining boots and smiling faces complimented Ashland High School's Sweet Sixteen under the direction of Mrs. Cecelia Kopp.

Donning blue jeans and cowboy hats, the girls galloped through "The Farmer and the Cowman" for the football preview. The rest of their grid-iron performances were aided by straw hats, canes, and hobby horses.

The 61-62 Sweet Sixteen, with eleven senior members, was a welcome basketball half-time attraction. As pert and pretty Christmas dolls, they enlivened the holiday games, and as graceful hoofers, tapped their way through "Bill Bailey" and "Tea for Two."

In addition to appearing with the band in all of the seasonal parades, the Sweet Sixteen won the first place majorette award in the 1961 Northwestern Ohio Firemen's Parade for their lively rendition of "June Is Bustin' Out All Over." They and the marching band were also treated to a day at Cedar Point in exchange for the two entertaining shows they gave there.

Ashland audiences were transported to the dreamland of "Camelot" when the familiar strains of its music echoed through McDowell Auditorium at the January Concert Band presentation under the direction of Ohio State's Jack Evans.

In addition to this outstanding performance, the Concert Band was prominently involved in the Spring Concert and the basketball half-time shows.

Volume swells and diminishes with the swiftmess of the sound which transmits it. Those sounds were beautifully executed during the various concerts in which the orchestra performed. From the lovely melodies of "Brigadoon" to the strains of the "Rosamunde Overture" the orchestra rendered their time and talents to the Ashland audiences.

Lerner and Lowe's musical "Brigadoon," "bloomed under the sable skies" of February with the assistance of this year's A Cappella Choir under the direction of Dr. Louis E. Pete. With an enthusiasm for good drama and good music, the choir repeated this successful 1957 fantasy.

The joint appearances of tenor Charles Abdoo and the Senior Choir promoted the Christmas Concerts to the shining peak of outstanding achievement. Mr. Abdoo's participation in the Ashland High music program marked the cultural high of the year.

The tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grade vocalists demonstrated the versatility of their music by moving from sacred at Easter to contemporary standards for spring and then back to sacred for Baccalaureate, Senior Farewell Assembly, and Commencement.

Everything from projects to prizes was the concern of Student Council. Projects consisted of dances, like the one held at Christmas, the Sadie Hawkins, and the Rhythm Rendezvous. Prizes ran all the way from the "Club of the Year Award" which is awarded locally by the Council to the new Cardinal Conference's Sportsmanship Trophy. The winner of which is chosen by a vote of the participating school's officials and the game referees on the student body's attitude.

The largest undertaking of the year is "Spring Follies" which is directed and produced entirely by Council members. This yearly variety show gives everyone in the school an opportunity to perform since there are no restrictions other than that of talent.

The Council carries out many other duties such as serving on the Club Coed Board and acting as purse checkers and popcorn vendors in addition to their other fund-raising projects. They also reign as the governing body of the students and as the opinion relayer between pupil and faculty.

"Acoustics is the key word in theatre," commented Mary Jane Boyle, art teacher and theatre enthusiast. She was only one of the numerous speakers entertained by the Thespians.

Dedicated to the purpose of establishing good theatre practices and appreciation, the club put forth a tremendous amount of effort to improve the dramatic standards of Ashland High School.

Heading the chapter's schedule was an outdoor barbeque which was promptly followed by several open forums.

The activity of the Thespians is exemplified by the fact that all of its officers figured into the production of this year's musical, "Brigadoon," and several of its members took key roles.

Going into its second year at Ashland High School is the active Forensic League. Although just recently reorganized, the A.H.S. chapter this school term has competed in six inter-school contests, one of which was against our Cardinal Conference rival, Wooster.

To inform parents and teachers of the work done and the achievements gained, the League demonstrated their prowess and the fundamentals of debate before the P.T.A.

Although debating is done by a two-man team, there are some cases in which it is done as an individual's event. This was the case when the League attended the Vermillion meet.

The group also was present at a debate conference at Ohio State University.

The innovation of junior and senior College Clubs was the most prominent feature of this year's group. Each now operates a separate program although both clubs meet on the same evenings.

The senior chapter concerned itself with the problems of college, finances, Greek letter organizations, dorm life, and specific courses of study.

The juniors concentrated on the examination of testing and entrance procedures and college selection.

Even though College Club maintained two sections, it did convene jointly for programs of general interest and the annual banquet which closed out the year.

The impressive candlelight induction service sponsored by the Senior Chapter in the new First Evangelical United Brethren Church opened the year with an impressive and dramatic touch for the new Sophomore Tri-Hi-Y.

Meetings consisted of panels and speakers who tried to probe the more complicated and perplexing secrets of life and success.

The sophomore chapter also aided in the production of this year's formal "Over the Rainbow." Several members contributed their time and talents to the Christmas Assembly.

"Each bound to each as friend." This phrase from the Tri-Hi-Y hymn signifies the unity which the Junior Tri-Hi-Y has tried to establish throughout the school.

Aiding the seniors with the Tri-Hi-Y Formal, "Over the Rainbow" was one of the most prominent achievements of the year. They also assisted in the planning of the joint Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y meeting and in the presentation of the Christmas Assembly.

Many of the chapter's meetings were devoted to self-improvement not only in looks but in personality and attitude as well.

"No, Mormons are not Protestant because they are not descendants of the Catholic church." This intriguing statement was earnestly expressed by a Mormon elder at one of the Senior Tri-Hi-Y's most informative meetings. It is the prime example of the efforts made by the club "to promote high standards of Christian living throughout the home, school and community."

Members of this year's chapter were the key factors in the planning of the Tri-Hi-Y Christmas Assembly, the January formal, and the joint formal initiation ceremony for the three sister clubs at the opening of the first semester.

Learning and maintaining the high standards expected of them as Sophomore Hi-Y members are the most prominent goals of this the youngest group.

The club which convenes bi-weekly at the YMCA tries to encourage the well-rounded development of the individual by means of panel discussions and by self-expression of opinions. The organization also promotes participation in intermural and interschool sports since it is concerned with every facet of a boy's personality.

The sophomores added their usual assistance with the serving of refreshments at the Hi-Y formal.

In addition to the services F.T.A. renders to its members, the club finds a place on a busy calendar to sponsor a Christmas party for one of the local needy families. It provides guides for the annual College Night and some of its members aid teachers with scoring and grading.

Future Teachers also spruces up its program with a highly flavorful International Banquet at which all graduating seniors are honored for their participation and assistance in the club's work throughout the year.

Future Farmers of America work toward the establishment of good farming practices and a healthy attitude towards home and family among the members.

Encouraging excellent farming methods is accomplished by such projects as their booth at the Ohio State Fair, the judging of livestock and their own entries there and the discussion of practical farm theories.

The highlight of the year occurred when the boys traveled to Kansas City for the National Convention where Dan Stone, A.H.S. Senior Band member, played in the National F.F.A. Band.

"531 for Paxton, 449 for Hostettler." This is one of the comments which fell on the ears of the members of Future Voters of America while they awaited the outcome of the 1961 county elections at the offices of the Ashland Times Gazette. This excursion like the one to the Ohio State capital by last year's club is typical of the efforts made to enlarge the students' understanding of America's voting privileges.

State Representative John Ashbrook's speech at the Ashland County Court House was the focal point of the year. His statements before the F.V.A. and interested Ashland residents were the stimuli for several discussion panels in classes and at meetings involving participants from Future Voters.

Promotion of enthusiastic school spirit, outstandingly good sportsmanship, and the improvement of athletic prowess at Ashland High is the aim of Varsity "A".

The club conducted its annual fund-raising projects such as the sale of fruit cakes and also presented the Athletic Award at the spring sports assembly.

Membership is acquired through the attainment of a varsity sports award. Numerals which blossom on many of the group's sleeves are gained after joining the club by the acquisition of forty points.

Distributive Education, a vocational co-op course in business, is open to seniors. Students work part-time in a business, which is of a distributive nature, where the student has the chance to meet the customers.

D. E. is found in fifty-three high schools in Ohio. All students are automatically members of the Distributive Education Clubs of America which is a nation-wide organization.

The fall district convention and the state convention as well as the annual national convention are all functions of D.E.C.A.

Students spend one period in the study of retailing and one period studying Salesmanship with the teacher-coordinator.

Each classroom of D. E. in Ohio received enough money from the Sears Roebuck Foundation to buy a classroom banner last year and this year received another check from the same organization to buy something of a lasting nature for the classroom.

TRI-HI-Y USHERS

Sprightly arrayed in the traditional red and white, this year's Tri-Hi-Y Ushers efficiently fulfilled their auditorium duties.

Activities commenced with their ushering for the graduation exercises of the Class of 1961 and for the touching farewell assembly.

This cordial group viewed the dramatic, sports, and musical highlights of the year while executing a useful addition to the school services. "Brigadoon" and the appearance of Charles Laughton are only two of the more extraordinary performances which reverberated through McDowell Auditorium.

"A" USHERS

When a rousing cheer goes up the crowd at Redwood Stadium, it is for the "A" Ushers as well as the current football squad.

These pert assistants attend to the seating of the large audiences at all home gridiron battles.

By displaying spontaneous enthusiasm for this rigorous sport and by wearing their lettered cardigans on the days of football competitions, these lasses helped to promote the waning school spirit.

Although theirs is a seasonal job, the effectiveness of the service they perform makes the memory of the jostling yet orderly crowds a pleasurable one for most sports fans.

VARSITY FOOTBALL

Lloyd Dunne
Head Coach

"This is a new experience." Spoken by head coach Lloyd Dunne at the end of a totally losing season, this cliche encompasses not only his feelings about the games but those of an entire student body.

"A new experience" can have a myriad of meanings. For the boys—a new system of plays, a new method of tackling, and a renewed emphasis on speed. For the coaches—a new group of boys, a reliable team who stayed out the entire season. For the fans—a new surge of school spirit that backed the team solidly throughout the season regardless of the games' outcomes.

Ashland's offensive record should indicate a winning season, but due to defensive mistakes the exact opposite is true. If the elimination of these errors is accomplished, the 62-63 Arrows may have a 9-0 record instead of this year's 0-9.

CROSS COUNTRY

Paul Wertz breaks Country Club record

A bright sparkle from the District Cross Country Trophy was added to Ashland High's collection, but it didn't match the sparkle added to the eyes of coach Doug Diercks and his exceptional squad. Hard work and perseverance helped acquire another honored but less ostentatious trophy representing a third place win in the twenty-eight team Bowling Green Tournament.

Closing a victorious 9-1 season in dual competition, the Arrow runners competed in the state meet securing the ninth spot on the roster.

The crowning laurel wreath of outstanding performance went to Senior Paul Wertz, undefeated in dual meets and second place winner of the State team race. Most are content to set a record once, but Paul broke his own record seven times, finally knocking 16.3 seconds off his 1960 record to make this year's low a remarkable 9:36.0.

WRESTLING

"Pin! Pin! Pin! Those cries burst from the lips of AHS wrestling fans as the Arrow matmen completed their fourth year of competition with a 2-8 season.

Steve Doerrer and Terry King led the grapplers with the best individual records of the season. Steve Doerrer was district champion in the 120 pound weight class and represented Ashland in the state finals at Columbus.

Under the leadership of Earl Fry, the squad composed mainly of underclassmen looks forward to more success next year since the majority of the lads will be returning.

BASKETBALL

Sam Marchio
Head Coach

"This has been a year for seasoning a group of young ball players," declared head basketball coach Sam Marchio.

This year's team has brought a new and interesting style of basketball to the hardwood of McDowell Auditorium.

Even with better than average foul shooting, the team connected for only 34% of the attempted field goals.

The squad was also lacking in the height necessary to control the board.

These last three factors were cited by coach Marchio as the ones which contributed the most to the Arrow's disappointing 5-14 record.

SWIMMING

Coach Jim Noel

Ashland's mermen were revived this winter after an absence of over forty years from the AHS sports scene.

The team showed much potential but a lack of experience and senior participation hampered their efforts. Facing a long and tough schedule, a lone win was recorded over Ontario by a score of 48-47.

Taking the helm as coach this year was James Noel, who has long been associated with life-saving and swim programs in Ashland.

The Navy All-Stars posted a hard earned 32-28 win over the Army crew on March 2 by swamping the Khakis with 13 points in the final quarter.

This annual battle of beauties was highlighted with Suzie Roberts and Linda Smith tallying 12 and 11 marks respectively for the victorious Navy sextet. Sunny Brunner rallied for underdog Army with 10 points.

Row 1: D. Liston, K. Holland, S. Bush, L. Topping, K. Fritzinger. Row 2: D. Pifer, K. Miller, K. Motter, J. Cox, C. Cox

NAVY

Row 1: S. Campbell, J. Taylor, S. Roberts, M. Warnes. Row 2: C. Sponsler, M. Eisel, D. Palmer, M. Kopp, H. Gongwer, P. Humrichouser

In the J. V. game the picture was reversed with Army overriding Navy 35-15.

Freshman Karen Miller turned in the night's most spectacular performance by racking up 25 of Army's 35 tallies. This female dead-eye literally bombarded the nets with eleven field goals and three charity shots. Karen Wagner led Navy with seven markers.

Row 1: K. Wagner, K. Maxheimer, B. Sweet, J. Dolby, C. Warner. Row 2: P. McCracken, G. Patrick, N. Berry, S. Harmon, J. Zercher
